

COURSE DETAILS

Master' Degree

33711 Concepts, Theories and Principle of Public Administration (6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge and understanding in the development of the concepts, theories, principles and public administration techniques of Thailand and other countries according to the problems and situation of public administration.
2. Ability to describe, analyze, synthesize, compare, estimate and conclude of the concepts, theories, principles and techniques in public administration in applying to the public administration or general administration according to the problems and situation in the present and future.
3. Ability to analyze, synthesis, compare, for forecasting the trends and directions of the future public administration in order to suggest the public administration concept, theory, principle and technique.

Course Description

This course outlines the development of the concepts, theories, principles and public administration techniques of Thailand and other countries. It also covers analysis, synthesis, comparison, evaluation and conclusions about the aforementioned concepts, theories, principles, and public administration techniques, the application of public administration theory in the administrative process or administration in general, forecasting or predicting future trends and directions of public administration, taking initiative and proposing concepts, theories, principles and techniques of public administration and their appropriate and consistent application in Thai public administration.

33713 Research Methodology in Public Administration* (6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge and understanding in principles, concepts, methodology, and public administration research processes.
2. To have knowledge and understanding in logic, statistics, and computer software in collecting the data, analyze, synthesize, and conclusion the research results accurate and reliable.
3. To have knowledge and understanding in morality and ethics of researcher in public administration research.

Note: Work in process of School of Management Science

Course Description

This course covers principles, concepts, research methodology and of procedural steps in public administration, logic, statistics and computer programs used in research, as well as morality and ethics of the researcher in conducting research in public administration, publishing research, and the application of research in management.

33715 Human Capital Management in Digital Era

(6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge and understanding in principles, concepts, theories and methods of human resource management, human capital management, strategic human resource management, new role of human resource management including the details of human resource management process of Thailand and other country in digital era which the organizations apply modern technology and innovation to provide comfortable facilities and satisfy the needs of people in new approaches in daily life.
2. To study, analyze, synthesize, describe, apply and develop the activities, processes, or methods in human resource management according to the problems and situation of Thai public administration.
3. To have knowledge and understanding able to describe and apply the principles, concepts and techniques of human resource management or apply the appropriate new methods.

Course Description

Students in this course will learn about principles, theories, techniques and methods relating to human resource management and human capital management in micro and macro perspectives in digital era which the organizations apply modern technology and innovation to provide comfortable facilities and satisfy the needs of people in new approaches in daily life. Moreover, the student will have knowledge on strategic human resource management, new role of human resource management in terms of process and activity analysis, synthesis, explanation, application as well as development of process, methods of human resource management. Besides, there will bring case studies regarding human capital in digital era of both foreign and Thai cases to mutual discuss in seminar class as the learning approaches.

33718 Local Administration*

(6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge and understanding in concepts, theories, principles, techniques, methods and local administration development of Thailand and other country appropriate and consistent with the public administration of Thailand.

Note: Work in process of School of Management Science

2. To describe, analyze, synthesize, compare, conclude and apply the concepts, theories, principles, techniques and local administration methods and administration innovation for local administration development.
3. Ability to analyze, synthesize, conclude and expect or forecast about trends and future direction of local administration.

Course Description

Topics include concepts, theory, principles, techniques, processes and development of local administration, defining the form and mission of the organization, human resource management, management of local finance, analysis, synthesis, comparison, conclusion and application of concepts, theories, principles, techniques and administrative innovation for local administration development.

33719 Economic and Public Finance Administration (6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge and understanding of economic administration and economic systems including the role of the government in economic operations in the disruptive era.
2. To have knowledge and understanding of concepts, theories, principles, techniques and public finance administration process, as well as being able to choose appropriate public finance policies and tools to solve the economic and fiscal situation.
3. Ability to describe, analyze, synthesize, compare, and apply the concepts, theories, principles, techniques and public finance administration process to develop systems and methods for managing public finances in accordance with the economic system and various situations both the present and in the future.

Course Description

This course presents concepts, theories and principles of economic administration, type of economic system, and the role of the government in economic management, as well as concepts, theories, principles, policy, and processes of public finance administration, overseeing government revenues and expenditures, public debt management, and the analysis, synthesis, comparatives, application of concepts, theories, principles, and policy in public finance administration, as well as analysis of the effectiveness of some aspects of public finance administration.

33721 Thesis (Public Administration) (12 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To be able to select research problems for a thesis.
2. To be able to survey and analyze literature related to the thesis.
3. To be able to design research for the thesis.
4. To gain knowledge and skill in writing and presenting the thesis proposal.
5. To be able to develop quantitative research tools.
6. To be able to develop qualitative research tools.
7. To be able to collect, analyze, and present data for the thesis.

Note: Work in process of School of Management Science

8. To be able to present and defend the thesis examination.
9. To be able to write the complete thesis report.
10. To be able to write the research report for publication.

Course Description

Selection of the research problem; survey and analysis of relevant literature; research design; writing and presenting a thesis proposal; tool development for thesis research, both quantitative and qualitative research; data collection; thesis data presentation; thesis presentation and examination defending; writing the complete thesis report; writing the research report for publication.

33722 Independent Study (Public Administration) (6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

Student will have ability to work on the public administration research or in their interest topics.

Course Description

This independent study can consist of selecting problems in public administration that require study or research, writing a research proposal, literature review, data analysis or presentation of research findings.

33723 Graduate Professional Experience in Public Administration (6 credits)

Objectives

1. To compute and apply theoretical knowledge of public administration.
2. To apply the theory and knowledge in appropriate with the condition of Thai society.
3. To enhance the development of attitude, behavior, consciousness, ethics, in the profession for the benefit of the nation and society.

Course Description

Students are able to apply computational and theoretical knowledge of public administration the benefit of society by using case studies as well as promoting and developing leadership skills, human relations and ability to work with others, developing attitudes and behavior as well as professional ethics and professional conscience.

33724 Public Policy and Strategic Management for Sustainable Development (6 credits)

Course Learning Outcomes

1. To acquire knowledge and understanding of concepts, principles, models and theories of public policy and strategic management.
2. To acquire strategic thinking, creativity of public policy design, analytic and problem solving ability of public policy and strategic management ethically.
3. To acquire integration and application of knowledge of public policy and strategic management for sustainable development.

Course Description

Public policy concepts, models, and theories; public policy design, public policy analysis, public policy formulation, public policy implementation, public policy evaluation. Strategic management concepts, principles and models; environmental analysis, strategic planning, strategic implementation, strategic evaluation; and cases of public policy and strategic management for sustainable development.

33726 Innovation for Public Administration(6 credits)Course Learning Outcomes

1.
.....
2.
.....
3.
.....

Course Description

.....
.....
.....

33727 Public, Private and Citizenship Management(6 credits)Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge understanding of concepts, theories and principles of public, private and civil society administration and management.
2. To have analytical and synthetic thinking with creative initiatives in the design of administration and management of the public, private and civil society sectors for solving problems ethically.
3. To be able to integrate and apply knowledge of public, private and civil society administration and management in accordance with sustainable development.

Course Description

Concepts, theories and principles of administration and management of the government, private sector and civil society both in country and abroad in different eras. Analyze and synthesize political, economic and social contexts related to public, private and civil society administration and management. As well as its use in setting up practices and assess policy guidelines, administration and management of the public, private and civil society sectors. By studying cases from foreign countries to apply them appropriately and in accordance with the policy including sustainable management and management.

Note: Work in process of School of Management Science

33728 Public, Private and Citizenship Management(6 credits)Course Learning Outcomes

1. To have knowledge understanding of concepts, theories and principles of public, private and civil society administration and management.
2. To have analytical and synthetic thinking with creative initiatives in the design of administration and management of the public, private and civil society sectors for solving problems ethically.
3. To be able to integrate and apply knowledge of public, private and civil society administration and management in accordance with sustainable development.

Course Description

Concepts, theories and principles of administration and management of the government, private sector and civil society both in country and abroad in different eras. Analyze and synthesize political, economic and social contexts related to public, private and civil society administration and management. As well as its use in setting up practices and assess policy guidelines, administration and management of the public, private and civil society sectors. By studying cases from foreign countries to apply them appropriately and in accordance with the policy including sustainable management and management.

33732 Organization Administration and Public Management(6 credits)Course Learning Outcomes

1.
2.
3.
4.

Course Description

.....

.....

.....

Note: Work in process of School of Management Science

Last updated: 21-July-2023