

Answer

Arguments are made for their wider application to the study of mass politics, in conjunction with a number of compatible research methods.