Answer

This study strengthens the feasibility of the OLM framework, based on information processing, to provide a concrete description of organizational learning processes in schools.