Answer

The objective of this study was to examine traditional aptitude test components and PM and the relationship these variables might have with L2 proficiency in nonnovice learners.