

ANSWER KEY

A summary:

Rosen (2008) proposes that references to other works in academic writing are necessary in order to combine ideas and information into a comprehensive discussion. Either a chemist or an economist needs to provide earlier information to provide backgrounds to what he/she is exploring or trying to set up. Researchers must understand the sources before utilizing them by summarizing.