

ANSWER KEY

3. Investigators have found that older adults generally defined health within the context of their longevity.