

ANSWER KEY

A paraphrase:

Rosen (2008) presents the definition of ‘summary’ as the most direct way to state one’s understanding of the sources, which is very important in academic writing as it provides background and information to establish what the writer is proposing.